Contact these people if you have questions about the reason for rejecting a particular record. Do not unnecessarily bug them to check the submitted documents though! EnsanitygarbadoXaniiGoldenBighthunder556HarriSdelski must be evaluated to be included in this list List demons who receive a hacked change difficulty update will be moved to the inherited part of the list. Alternatively, if a demon receives a hacked update before it is worthy of a list, it will not be added. However, a demon whose initial check was hacked will be on the list. Recordings must be legal and either uploaded to YouTube, Vimeo, Bilibili or added streamed to the list. Anyone who publishes illegitimate records and transmits them as legitimate will have their records removed from the list. Illegitimate records include, but are not limited to, speedhacks, Noclip, auto, nerfs, macros, etc. Level entries must be in normal mode and live version of the level or an appropriate bug fixed/small detailed copy at this level. Please refer to the bugfix and LDM instructions. The holder of the record must meet the percentage level requirement in order to be added to the list for that level. Checks are not counted as list entries, but still award points. If you're in a group where people beat levels for the same channel, your records will be temporarily removed from the list. Records using the built-in LDM level are always eligible. Records of the corresponding copies of LDM are allowed. Please note the list moderator if you are not sure which decorations can or cannot be removed. Generally speaking, a copy of LDM should not remove decorations that hinder the player's vision, blindness, blinking or fighting bosses, for example. Referring to the first guide, if the previously announced decorations are removed in the built-in LDM level, but it is perfectly good to use it. Records of relevant bug copies with levels for different refresh rates are eligible. Please contact a list moderator if you are not sure what is or is not a bug. Note: Please do not send nonsense, it only makes it harder for all of us and will ban you. Also note that the form rejects duplicate submissions. Set a record! Do not edit this article unless strictly necessary. The official list of demons (or Official Demons List) is the creation of a community that classifies different levels of demons in Geometry Dash in order of difficulty. The official list was originally a topic on the game's forums, but was eventually moved to an independent site and received updates from April 2015. Currently, the list classifies Tartarus as the most difficult demon level in the game. Review The official demon list previously sorted a total of 50 demonic levels and was extended in October 2017 to 100 and in June 2019 to 150, dividing the list into a basic and expanded list with 75 levels each. The community's eventual shift to higher refresh rate monitors allowed people to complete levels that had not been completed before due to lower refresh rate limits. List The main list and extended list include subjectively ranked demon levels that are added as a result of the average player mindset, given the time you need to put the levels and skills needed to complete them in normal mode. As a management method, the lists are divided into two to divide the most difficult levels in the game, which require a higher skill to complete and the average solid demo level. The welded list contains demons that are occupied on the list but have been repelled as new levels are applied. The legacy list does not follow each order and receives updates when new demons are moved down. When a player beats a level that is many places on the list from his previous toughest, he is known in the community as a leap. One of the biggest jumps belonged to the nCaT when he beat Thinking Space (#8), with his previous hardest being Bilbat (#132), jumping 124 places on the list. he beat Heavenly Forces (his previous hardest was Cataclysm (#222)), meaning he jumped about 180 places on the list. Staff The official list of demons is led by a handful of people known as list editors and assistants. They have a public Discord server where people can get involved in list ratings through surveys they sometimes post as messages. To submit a record, it must meet the following criteria: Demons rules must be evaluated in this list. Levels that receive a hacked update changing their difficulty will be moved to the legacy part of the list. If the demon receives a hacked update before it is worthy of a list, it will not be added. A demon whose initial check was hacked will be on the list. Submission policy entries must be legal and uploaded to a streaming platform. The publication of illegal records and their transmission as legitimate will be removed from the list. Illegitimate records include, but are not limited to, speed hacks, noclip, auto, nerfs, macros, bypasses, etc. Level entries must be in normal mode and live version of the level or an appropriate bug fixed/small detailed copy at this level. Please refer to the bugfix and LDM instructions. The holder of the record must meet the percentage requirement for a level to be added to the list for that level. Videos that are sent must be added with clicks. General guidelines Checks are not counted as list entries, but still award points.
